The Trauma Informed Care Committee is comprised of the above two groups working separately and collaboratively to develop recommendations for a Trauma based training curriculum and ideas of how to disseminate the training statewide. The group views our recommendations as points of discussion and is intended to be a potential guideline as we move forward developing the training.

The Trauma Informed Care group has been working on a training curriculum. The group currently has put together a one-day training that could be used as prototype of a standardized treatment curriculum. The Training Work Group has been working on a format that would allow all ITS entities to be trained in all areas of the state. The following are some ideas for consideration:

1. Dr. Laura Guidry, Greg Steelman and Jill Fitzgerald would be happy to offer their services in the training process.
2. It could be structured as a one day in person training with monthly clinical supervision conducted on Skype with all participants.
3. Pending the audience, the training may have to be adapted to meet the need. An administrative training may be different than a clinical or line staff training.
4. As new people join the group the training can be replicated to enlarge the supervision pool.
5. Once the training and supervisions are in place a train the trainer program could be put into place.
6. The Moore Center with Dr. Guidry developed a clinical training program used in the past that was reportedly very successful. A proposal has been presented to revive the training program. It is possible the Trauma Informed Training could be part of this or we could use a similar format.
7. The group is currently working on determining all training going on statewide to reduce any redundancies and key in on areas of need. It would be helpful to get input from all area agencies, residential programs and mental health agencies.

In summary the Trauma Informed Treatment Group has put together a curriculum and potential ideas of the disseminating the information to all ITS providers. While we have presented these ideas all is up for discussion and input from all ITS providers.
